DETAILED ACTION

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: See that Kobayashi (JP 9-199666) discloses a die, a ground plane, an electrically insulating layer that electrically isolates the die and the ground plane, a decoupling capacitor and an encapsulating material to form a semiconductor integrated circuit device wherein the ground plane connected to the ground lead and located within a first end of the ground lead.

However, the claims as amended on March 3, 2004 recite that the ground plane extends beyond the first end of the ground lead when the die is connected to the first end of the ground lead and a power lead.

The above amended limitation in combination with all the language recited in the claims makes up for a structure that is neither obvious over nor anticipated by the prior art of record. The claims are allowable since the prior art fails to teach or reasonably suggest, either singularly or in combination to anticipate the invention as claimed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
